Welcome Message

ICHIKAWA Hiromi

Fire Chief, Tokyo Fire Department (TFD)

President, International Fire Chiefs' Association of Asia (IFCAA)

I am delighted to announce that the 34th General Conference of the International Fire Chiefs' Association of Asia (IFCAA) will be held in Nagoya, Japan, in 2026. On this occasion, I would like to extend my warmest greetings to all IFCAA members, as well as fire and disaster management professionals across Asia, Oceania, and around the world.

In recent years, a wide range of natural disasters including earthquakes, typhoons, torrential rains, volcanic eruptions, wildfires, and landslides, have struck many parts of the world, claiming precious lives and causing the loss of valuable property.

Moreover, the impacts of global climate change have further intensified and increased the frequency of these disasters, resulting in unprecedented crises and human suffering.

Amid such circumstances, it is our solemn responsibility as fire chiefs and disaster management professionals to strengthen cooperation beyond national and regional boundaries, and to dedicate ourselves fully to our noble mission of protecting the lives, safety, and property of our people.

This General Conference will bring together fire service leaders and disaster management professionals from across Asia, Oceania, and other regions. It will provide a valuable platform to exchange knowledge, share experiences, and discuss common challenges. I am confident that these discussions will make a significant contribution to the further advancement of fire and disaster management and to enhancing our collective response capabilities.

I sincerely look forward to the active participation of many members and delegations, and to welcoming you all to IFCAA 2026 Nagoya.

ITO Kazuyoshi

Fire Chief, Nagoya City Fire Bureau

Chairman, IFCAA 2026 Nagoya Executive Committee

It is our great honor to host IFCAA 2026 NAGOYA (the 34th IFCAA General Conference, the 78th FCAJ General Conference, and International Fire and Safety Exhibition) in Nagoya City, welcoming many fire service professionals from across Japan as well as various countries and regions throughout Asia and Oceania. Nagoya City has developed as a city where history and culture, represented by the Owari Tokugawa family, continue to thrive today, centered around Nagoya Castle, along with traditional crafts and culinary culture. In 2026, the 20th Asian Games

Aichi-Nagoya 2026 and 5th Asian Para Games Aichi-Nagoya 2026, Asia's largest sporting festivals, are also scheduled to be held here. This presents an excellent opportunity for many people to visit our city, and we believe it will be a special year that deepens connections with the Asia-Oceania region.

In recent years, the Asia-Oceania region has experienced numerous large-scale natural disasters including wildfires, torrential rains, earthquakes, and tsunamis, resulting in the loss of many precious lives and properties annually. Under these circumstances, fire services are expected by residents to fulfill the noble mission of protecting community safety and security, making international cooperation beyond national and regional boundaries increasingly important. In this context, bringing together many fire service professionals from both domestic and international communities to exchange knowledge, techniques, experiences, and opinions is extremely meaningful, and we are confident that this will greatly contribute to the development of fire administration in each country and region. In conclusion, we sincerely hope that IFCAA 2026 NAGOYA will bring significant achievements to all participants and serve as a meaningful and fruitful venue for everyone involved.

Nagoya Castle

Nagoya Castle was completed in 1615 by the Shogun, Tokugawa Ieyasu. Topped with golden shachihoko, votive tiger-fish roof devices, and boasting the largest floorspace of any tower keep, Nagoya Castle and its magnificent Honmaru Palace were operated as a military facility. Nagoya Castle was Japan's first castle to be designated a National Treasure. Even after wartime air raid destruction, it was deemed historically important enough to be designated a National Historic Site. Restoration work being carried out is returning Nagoya Castle to original condition.

Naka Fire Station, Nagoya City Fire Bureau

The Nagoya City Fire Bureau operates 16 fire stations, including the Naka Fire Station—a towering 15-story building with three basement levels located in the heart of Nagoya. Within Naka Ward, the station oversees not only the main facility but also two branch offices. With around 130 dedicated firefighters and 14 fire trucks, the team is on duty around the clock, protecting residents from fires, medical emergencies, rescues, and natural disasters such as earthquakes and typhoons. To handle incidents in high-rise buildings, Naka Fire Station proudly operates Nagoya's only 50-meter ladder truck, ensuring rapid response to emergencies in tall structures.

Garden Restaurant Tokugawaen

The Tokugawaen, located approximately three kilometers due east from the Honmaru Palace of Nagoya Castle, was built in 1695 originally as a retirement residence at Ozone for Mitsutomo, head of the three houses of Tokugawa and second generation Lord of the Owari domain. After the war, the Tokugawaen was used as a general park. With landscape renovation beginning in 2001 the Tokugawaen is set to open again as a Japanese garden in 2004.

The Conder House

The Nagoya Bank Head Office was constructed in 1926 (Showa 1). Designed by the renowned architect Teiji Suzuki, often called "the architect who built Nagoya," this rare bank building was constructed with an extravagance unimaginable today, serving as a symbol of wealth. The site of the former Nagoya Bank Head Office, which had walked alongside the city's development since its founding, was designated an Important Urban Landscape Building and watched over by many people. In spring 2018, its doors reopened as a restaurant & bar and a guest house for wedding parties.
